We are inviting proposals for interest sessions that explore innovative, cutting-edge approaches to choral artistry and redefine the boundaries of artistic expression in the choral world.

We welcome proposals from choral directors, educators, composers, performers, and scholars who are passionate about pushing the boundaries of choral artistry. Whether you have insights into groundbreaking rehearsal techniques, interdisciplinary collaborations, technology integration, diverse programming ideas, or fresh perspectives on traditional choral repertoire, we encourage you to submit a proposal.

Proposals should:

- Clearly articulate the session's focus and objectives.
- Demonstrate relevance to the theme of (AR)tistry Redefined.
- Provide a brief outline of the proposed content and activities.
- Include any necessary audio/visual requirements.
- Specify the target audience and level of experience (e.g., beginner, intermediate, advanced).

Sessions may take various formats, including lectures, demonstrations, interactive workshops, panel discussions, or performances. We encourage presenters to think creatively and engage participants actively throughout the session.

Submission Guidelines: Please submit your proposal by April 12, 2024—5:00 pm using the online submission form on our conference website. Proposals should not exceed 300 words and should be accompanied by a brief biography highlighting relevant experience and expertise.

Notification: Selected presenters will be notified by April 26, 2024. If your proposal is accepted, you will receive further instructions regarding session scheduling and logistical details.

Join us in redefining (AR)tistry at the AR-ACDA Conference and contribute to an enriching experience for choral professionals and enthusiasts alike. We look forward to receiving your innovative proposals!

Sincerely,
